GameGuru is a retro-inspired game scripting tool. GameGuru's modern interface makes it an attractive choice for programmers and artists alike. GameGuru is a tool for creating action or narrative based games, as well as more conventional puzzle games. GameGuru is a client/server application. The client is a standalone IDE and works on any computer with Windows, Mac OS or Linux. GameGuru clients can be deployed on a local network. GameGuru servers run on the same computer and can be run headlessly. A server runs on a desktop computer and accepts game creation requests from clients through a web page. GameGuru servers can be controlled from any internet connected web browser. GameGuru is available to buy and download here. GameGuru is the only online scripting and programming tool that brings you a variety of game-ready game objects - to use in your own games. With GameGuru you can create your own game objects, use sprite animation, run predefined code blocks, load and save a game, create your own game rooms, set your game code to run in random order, save your game in your own save format, send your game to any website or send it to your friends via email, and much more. GameGuru scripts run in the same way as game objects. A game script is a set of instructions that your game character will follow. You write down a game script and send it to your game character using the game's scripting system. The game character will then follow the game script instructions. GameGuru uses the SDL API to access the graphics system, sound, user input and much more. Together with the GameGuru assets you can create a game that is as difficult as you want to make it. GameGuru scripting is for experienced game programmers, artists and students who want to create or extend a game and need a robust tool. GameGuru scripting is not for a casual player looking for an easy way to play. You can use GameGuru scripting to create lots of interesting game genres, but it takes time and experience to do it. However, if you already know your way around the programming and game graphics worlds then you will be able to quickly master GameGuru scripting. If you are new to programming or game graphics, it is still recommended that you start with the easy GameGuru assets and learn GameGuru scripting from there. And from the time when Napoleon was a child, fear is somehow intimated. Everybody can see what's up the nose of the child. Who knows for what reason so many adroit people are afraid of cats? No idea. -h. "So the letter said 'Err in the Letter'.""Err in the Letter"! How appropriate name. Isnt it an error in the sense that he felt so bored with his life that he wrote something so pathetic. Anon: "The fear of stepping into the road and getting a death blow is great. The fear of illness is great, and also of getting the disease is great, but the knowledge of the disease is the worst fear." Fear of the unknown! And what is the best medium for communication? "Who knows for what reason so many adroit people are afraid of cats? No idea."-S.S. The adult dog protection! So this is the old "don't eat dog/cats" rule etc. That is why dogs don't have tails. Dogs can be pet, coz they're like children, but once they become big and have grown hair, they can be tough and can hurt you. S.S.- Sorry I wasn't talking to you!
