New beta build for omni 2000 is released. Its contain Feature update and few bug fix. For feature update, New character editor is update. So you can now config the characters appearance according to your wish. Features: New added character editor Section: Skin Tones, Facial hair, Handicrafts and Tattoos. Spells: You will know that spells are divisible by 10. So you can now configure them by number. Bug fix: Crash in campaign fixed. Language fixed. Death sounds changed. You can adjust the Music but still cannot select the music player in the Start Menu. Right Click on the Configuration Menu is not working. This game is intresting play and fun to play it. Each custom can have their own charatic feature so you will have lot of fun with this and you will know more than another!!Log in Doomsday Clock 24.10.2011 The lumpskinned round-nosed grinning gremlin in the “doomsday clock” is Saddam Hussein. On his neck, a scar, evocative of the phrase “Worse than a war.” This time he is scarcely dead, being revived with chemical Ritalin by the secret lite-fairies. It is the usual game: make fun of him, destroy him. The “doomsday clock” is allowed to appear regularly in the mainstream news, once a week, and the Bush Presidency is presented to us in the guise of a one-man disaster relief agency. But meantime, the Iraqi culture has been destroyed, the US and Britain have been denied the instant profits (in export volume) and huge armies of employed Iraqis who are paid back for a bad experience by being systematically and summarily sickened with cancer and other diseases, the most expensive kind for a stolen nation, by NATO poison and the most lethal available armaments. Such a disposable human resource (6 million died) is of no interest and we have been denied even the “virtual” participation of an opinion poll.The process of fat
